

Florence E. S. Knapp Tells Her Own Story

Admits Endorsing Check and Using Proceeds to Pay Bill For Furniture but Asserts She Did This With the Approval of Her Stepdaughter—Why She Burned Some of the Records.

Courthouse, Albany, May 7 (AP).—Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, first woman ever elected to statewide public office in New York, took the witness stand at 10:12 this morning in her own defense against a charge of grand larceny in connection with alleged misuse of state census pay checks.

Under direction of Patrick C. Dugan, of her counsel, Mrs. Knapp began a sketch of her education and training.

Supreme Court Justice Stephen Callaghan, presiding, told Mrs. Knapp that he would permit the reception of only a brief sketch of this kind and instructed her to follow her attorney's questions.

Questioned as to her salary while secretary of state, she declared that she had a house in Syracuse when she entered in office and when she went out she had "nothing more." She added that before she entered office she also had about $4,500 in cash.

She described the census of 1925 as a "gigantic task" and said she asked several of her relatives to help her accomplish the "vast amount of work." She detailed various work she said her relatives had done on the census.

Mrs. Knapp identified the endorsement "C. B. Knapp" on the check which is the basis of the present indictment as in her own handwriting and testified she had caused a bank draft to be purchased with the check. With this, she swore, she paid for furniture which had been purchased at the Edwards Department Store in Syracuse in accordance with authority granted by "C. B. Knapp," her stepdaughter.

This furniture, she testified, was to be used to furnish the Albany home for the family during the census period. As to its final disposition, she said it was sent to "our little home" in Bedford, Mass., with Miss Knapp's approval.

"She was apparently very happy over the plan for our home," Mrs. Knapp said.

Taking up the matter of "missing records" ordered destroyed by Mrs. Knapp at Syracuse, which the prosecution charged included important census records, Mrs. Knapp testified these papers came to her as the result of an order to her first deputy, Mark Stern, to send to her the contents of her "personal files." She had no place to store them, she testified, so she ordered all but one box destroyed without examining the contents closely.

As Mrs. Knapp testified, all twelve jurors kept their heads turned towards her most of the time. Most of the time she looked directly at them. Twice, as she came to especially important parts of her story, her attorney directed her to speak to the jury.

The direct examination of Mrs. Knapp was concluded in just an hour.

Taking up the cross-examination, George Z. Medalle, chief prosecuting attorney, gave his attention to a letter to the secretary of state from the civil service commission, dated April 23, 1926. She said she had brought the letter here, adding it was probably a copy made for her by an employee of the civil service commission.

This letter, Mrs. Knapp said, she kept in her Syracuse office and was not among the material destroyed after she left office.

The letter as read by Mr. Medalle, authorized a civil service commission resolution exempting Mrs. Knapp's sister, Julia A. Smith, from competitive examination for the position for which she had been paid in full some months before.

Mrs. Knapp several times would not answer questions directly.

The judge instructed her to do so.

"I shall be very glad to," she said.

"Well, let's see you do it," the judge said.

Mr. Medalle questioned the witness closely as to payments to Mrs. Knapp's sister, Julia A. Smith. The prosecution asked Mrs. Knapp what was the specific job referred to in an affidavit by Mrs. Knapp after the Moreland Act inquiry into the census work, for which Julia Smith was hired and for which she received a total of $2,500.

"Whatever in my discretionary power, I might assign to her," Mrs. Knapp replied.

"I mean the specific job," Mr. Medalle said.

The witness repeated the same answer.

"And you call that specific?" Mr. Medalle asked.

"I do—in the matter of the census," Mrs. Knapp frequently insisted upon elaborating her answers. Mr. Medalle and frequently the judge insisted on direct answers.

"In my discretion," she reported several times.

"I know all about your discretion; it was very broad," said Mr. Medalle, referring specifically

1,000 Attend Holy Name Rally At Saugerties

Father Scully Gives Interesting Talk on Benedictine Hospital—Solemn Benediction Follows Program That Appealed to Holy Name Men.

The second annual Ulster County Rally of the Holy Name Society was attended at Saugerties Sunday by approximately 1,000 men. St. Mary's parish of Kingston had the largest delegation present, which numbered 269 according to an actual count. The program was given in the Orpheum Theatre, where stimulating addresses were given by prominent speakers. Solemn benediction was sung in St. Mary's Church, after the program at the Orpheum, to where the men marched in a body.

The following, who spoke on the topics of great interest, were introduced by the Rev. Francis X. FitzPatrick of St. Mary's Church, Kingston, regional director of the Ulster County Holy Name Societies; the Rev. Martin P. O'Garra, pastor of St. Mary's Church, Saugerties, who gave the welcoming address; the Very Rev. Joseph B. Scully, dean of Ulster, Sullivan and Orange counties, pastor of St. Mary's Church, Kingston, N. Y., and president of the Benedictine Hospital of this city; Alexander I. Rorke, prominent lawyer of New York city, and the Rev. Thomas Tobin, C. S. R., of St. Alphonsus, Esopus, N. Y.

After the singing of a hymn by the Holy Name choir of St. Mary's Church, Saugerties, accompanied by Professor John F. Hogan, and the recitation of the Litany of the Holy Name, led by the Rev. Francis X. FitzPatrick, the Rev. Martin P. O'Garra in the welcoming address, lauded the Holy Name Society and expressed what every member should manifest in order to be looked upon as a good Christian by his fellowmen.

Talks on Hospital.

The Very Rev. Joseph B. Scully in his very impressive talk, which brought out the good it is possible to render humanity, told the men of the opportunity of gaining God's gifts through the medium of charity, the greatest of all virtues, as well as by prayer. Father Scully, president of the Benedictine Hospital, a position which enables him to discuss the work of charity from a practical standpoint told of the great service a hospital is to a community and how such an institution may be helped by those who find relief from pain and suffering through the medium of advanced medical science made possible through the work being done in hospitals.

The speaker took for example the work being carried on in the Benedictine Hospital, run by nuns who sacrifice themselves to care for the stricken of every creed and color. The men were given a clear example of the practice of the principles of faith, which manifested the good accomplished by helping one's neighbor. In his address, Father Scully mentioned the cooperation being received by the Benedictine Hospital from those not of the Catholic faith, that embraced by the good nuns of the institution. He called attention in particular to the assistance being lent to the hospital by the Hon. Philip Eiting, collector of the Port of New York, who is chairman of a drive to raise $150,000 to pay off a debt on the hospital.

The drive is being conducted in connection with the planning of a fitting program to celebrate the Benedictine's 25 years of service to the county of Ulster. It is sponsored by a group of which the majority is non-Catholic. The chairman, Mr. Eiting, has shown an extensive interest in the Benedictine and to strengthen his opinion that the hospital is most worthy of the help of Ulster county residents has taken it upon himself to seek aid for it by calling in person upon many prominent Ulsterites. They have registered their accord with Mr. Eiting's views by contributing generously.

In closing Father Scully expressed the hope that the members of the Holy Name Society would aid as willingly as many of the non-Catholics, who have already manifested their recognition of the hospital's great service in a generous manner.

State and Church Separate.

Mr. Rorke's talk had to do with rendering to Caesar the things that are Caesar's and to God the things that are God's. In the discourse he clearly manifested that matters having to do with the affairs of the state are separate from those of church. It was pointed out that the Catholic faith contains no modernists or fundamentalists concerning religion and that helps members of the sect to obey the laws of the state and nature with greater efficiency. Mr. Rorke urged his hearers to live up to the principles of their religion and show by example and a thorough knowledge of it the good it is capable of promoting. He said that enemies of the church are caused to be such because they do not understand its doctrines. The Holy Name men were advised to study them thoroughly in order to be able to answer questions concerning the Catholic faith, which are being asked so much since the nomination of Governor Smith for President of the United States is being discussed.

Officers Disguised As Tramps Shoot Citizen Who Failed to Halt

Secretary of Niagara Falls Lodge of Elks Fatally Wounded When He Failed to Stop His Car on Demand of Disreputable Appearing Men Whom He Supposed to be Highwaymen—Two Assaultants Were "Enforcing" Prohibition Law.

Buffalo, May 7 (AP).—Feeling in western New York ran high today against two coast guardsmen held on a charge of shooting J. P. Hanson, secretary of Niagara Falls Lodge, No. 246, B. P. O. Elks. Hanson is in Niagara Falls Hospital with little chance of recovery. One bullet entered his head and destroyed his right eye.

Glenn Jennings and Chris Dew, accused of the shooting, are confined to quarters at Fort Niagara pending decision of authorities as to method of action. They had been detailed to watch for rum runners along the Niagara county highways. Hanson was returning to the falls after taking a party of friends to Lewiston, following their attendance at the silver jubilee celebration of the North Tonawanda Lodge of Elks. The coast guardsmen, clad in overalls and sheepskin jackets, came upon him on the Lewiston Hill. Suspecting he was a rum runner, they commanded him to stop.

Hanson apparently thought they were highwaymen. He tried to speed away. The guardsmen fired several shots. One went through the windshield and entered the driver's right temple. The car ran into the rocky bank and stopped.

Clarence R. Rinnals, prominent Falls attorney, said today one of the coast guardsmen aroused him at daybreak and asked permission to use the telephone to call an ambulance. The man's appearance was so disreputable, he said, that he forced the stranger to remain outside and locked the door while he summoned the conveyance himself. At the hospital it was stated the patient was not likely to live more than a few hours.

James Franklin, exalted ruler of Niagara Falls Elks, swore out a warrant charging Jennings and Dew with second degree assault. State Troopers went to Fort Niagara to make the arrests, but Captain Beck refused to give up the two men. He said they would be detained in quarters until the United States District Attorney at Buffalo had time to look into the matter.

Citizens generally at the Falls are aroused. The management of one theatre has offered the Elks the use of its house for an indignation meeting to protest against the shooting of innocent citizens by federal men.

Judge Betts Dead at His Home

Death Came Suddenly But Was Not Unexpected—Served As Surrogate And Supreme Court Justice—Active in Many Lines.

Death came suddenly but was not unexpected—Served As Surrogate And Supreme Court Justice—Active in Many Lines.

The Hon. James Albert Betts, former surrogate of Ulster county and for fourteen years, from 1899 until the end of a fourteen years' term in 1912, one of the justices of the Supreme court of New York state for the Third judicial department, died at 1:15 o'clock this morning at his home, No. 204 Pearl street, aged 75 years.

To numerous friends throughout Ulster county and the state, Judge Betts' death comes as a shock, but it was not unexpected to his family or intimate friends to whom his condition had been a matter of concern since last January when he suffered a severe heart attack, since when he had withdrawn from active participation in his numerous customary activities and had spent as much time as possible at his home.

For fifty-three years Judge Betts had been a resident of Ulster county, and during many years he had been actively associated with the Democratic politics of the county, with educational and financial affairs, and with the City of Kingston Hospital, which he had served for many years as president of the board of managers, in addition to which he had served for twenty years as a member of the county and state judiciary.

Educated for Teacher.

Judge Betts was born March 18, 1853, at Broadalbin, Fulton county, N. Y., the son of Isaiah and Margaret A. Hoos Betts. He attended the country schools and later educated himself to become a teacher at the State Normal School at Albany, from which he was graduated in 1875.

Upon his graduation he came to Kingston and was engaged as principal of the then School No. 11, now School No. 7, and served in that capacity two years. Although he left teaching for other fields, his interest in the schools never flagged, and from 1885 to 1893 he served as a member of the former Kingston board of education. His interest in school affairs was not merely personal, but at each meeting of the education board he called upon the principals of each school under the board's jurisdiction to report upon attendance and school conditions, all of which information he summarized in notes for his own use in questioning principals at subsequent meetings in order to determine the progress made by each school, grade and teacher.

Left Teaching for Law.

At the end of his two years' teaching, he took up the study of law in the office of Schoonmaker & Linsion. Upon his admission to the bar in 1880, he engaged in practice, which he continued up to the time of his election as surrogate in November, 1892. Upon assuming the duties of that office he gave up much of his practice, and upon his subsequent election as justice of the Supreme court in 1898 he was debarred from continuing the practice of law. Upon his retirement from the bench in 1912, he resumed practicing law and built up a large and lucrative practice. In order to avoid difficulties frequently experienced by lawyers in the matter of offices, he erected his own building at No. 65 John street, which he occupied exclusively.

His Political Career.

Judge Betts became actively interested in Democratic politics soon after coming to Kingston, and associated himself with that wing of the party led by the late Judge Alton B. Parker, who was shortly to become successively surrogate of the county and justice of the Supreme court, in both of which positions Judge Betts followed him.

His political activity led to his selection as secretary of the state civil service commission in 1883 and 1884. In 1899 and 1891 he was elected clerk of the board of supervisors—a position which also had been occupied previously by Judge Parker before he began his political and judicial career. In 1892 he was elected surrogate, defeating the late Hon. Oliver F. Carpenter, who was a candidate for re-election, by a plurality of 579.

During his six years' term as surrogate, Judge Betts decided many important matters which came before him. There were many large estates involving intricate legal questions which appeared in the surrogate's court during those years, and Judge Betts established a reputation which led to his selection as the Democratic candidate for justice of the Supreme court in November, 1898, as successor to Judge Parker, who had been elevated from Bucharest, May 7 (AP).—The regency today refused the demand voiced by 200,000 peasants meeting at Alba Julia yesterday that the government of Vintila Bratianu resign.

Julio Maniu, leader of the Peasants, who brought the demand to Bucharest, was informed that the regency saw no occasion for demanding the resignation.

In the face of a negative reply the peasants party may now adopt a passive resistance towards the present government, including the non-payment of taxes in order to embarrass it.

Alba Julia, Rumania, May 7 (AP).—Peasants are marching on Bucharest today to demand a change of government.

After a Sunday meeting of 200,000 Peasants and laborers had sworn to do everything possible to remove the present government and had broken up in confusion, the crowd lingered for two hours while several leaders made fiery speeches. Then two long columns started a five day hike for Bucharest.

Ten fighting planes flew over Alba Julia surveying the ranks of the Peasants as they trudged toward the capital.

It was stated that each Peasant was participating in the march on his own initiative and without the authorization of Julio Maniu, leader of the national Peasant party. The march on Bucharest was regarded as a popular manifestation and since the marchers were unarmed no bloodshed was expected.

Maniu and I. Michelaki, another leader, intended to reach the capital ahead of the Peasants by traveling by railroad. They carried the demand of the assembly that the government headed by Vintila Bratianu resign and intended to present it to the regency.

The Associated Press correspondent who rode from Klausenburg Cluj toward Bucharest, met many Peasants moving toward the capital with banners which were unfurled. Others were sitting around camp fires by the roadside.

London, May 7 (AP).—The Daily Express today said the British government had prevented the carrying out of a plot, of which former Crown Prince Carol of Rumania was the central figure, to seize the Rumanian throne from Carol's six year old son, King Michael. Despite the temporary check the plans have not been abandoned, the paper asserted.

There was reported that at the estate of M. Jonsescu, a Rumanian living in Godstone, Surrey, where Carol is visiting, a fast automobile waited to speed him to the Croydon Airfield, from which point he could fly to Paris. There he keeps his own plane in readiness, Carol himself said.

"I am waiting, and if Rumania calls, as I think she may, I will answer. Some people think I am trying to kick my son off the throne. That is wrong. But if the call should come, I am ready to go."

The newspaper said British airplanes had been chartered to carry manifestos and scatter them over Rumania. These manifestos, of which 20,000 were printed in London, were said to quote Carol as asserting: "I wish to return by your will to lead Rumania to its rightful place in the world. I wish to return to my child and make him a worthy successor of the dynasty. I declare that I left my country unwillingly, compelled by unhappy circumstances. Madame Lupescu (with whom Carol eloped) was not the cause of my leaving and she will not prevent me from doing my duty to my country."

What was claimed to be the text of the manifesto appealed to all Rumanians to gather around Carol and help him obtain such reforms as free elections, freedom of the press, separation of the army and judiciary from politics, the abolition of monopolies and aid for the peasants.

The paper said the British government learning of the plot prevented the airplanes from leaving Croydon with the manifestos. Not deterred, the Carolists were said to have sent an unnamed Englishman, who has been acting as Carol's chief emissary, on a secret mission, which was understood to be to Hunzary. Carol was asserted to have promised to use his influence to obtain a revision of the treaty of Trianon and thus hoped to obtain the support of the Hunzarian government.

The newspaper said that Carol was to declare his claim to the throne and announce his intention of having Michael abdicate in his favor. Michael was to enter an English school and eventually reign as a democratic monarch.

Carol, himself, however, asserted that he did not meddle in the politics of his country. When asked to comment on the present Congress at Alba Julia, "I hold myself above party," he declared, "and am concerned only with the welfare of my country."

Blond Boy Bandit Herzog Adds Caught by Trooper New Department

Syracuse Youthful Bad Man Arrested in Ellenville—Equipped With Guns and Black Mask—Was Driving Car Stolen on Saturday.

Louis Wade, 17 years old, was picked up at Ellenville Sunday by State Troopers Cady, Norton and Allen and Chief of Police Ross. Wade's arrest was his second encounter with the officials during the day and probably will be his last for some time. During the afternoon Trooper Cady, who is on motorcycle duty about Wurtsboro, stopped Wade, who was driving a Reo Wolverine, and inquired for his license. The car was equipped with dealer's plates and while the trooper was examining the card which Wade handed him, Wade stepped on the gas and drove away. Trooper Cady gave chase but was unable to locate Wade.

Driving at a fast clip until near Leurekill, a mile and a half from Ellenville, the car stopped and Wade took to the fields and finally reached the railroad tracks and started for Ellenville. Shortly after Wade disappeared another car of the same type was held up on the road by Troopers and held until Officer Cady came along. Cady found the car not the one he was looking for and allowed the driver to go. Continuing on to Ellenville the troopers and Chief Ross began a search of the railroad yards and station.

In the abandoned car which the troopers had found was a cartridge belt with several rounds of ammunition and this led the officers to believe that Wade was armed.

Trooper Cady entered the station and as he came in he saw no one but observed a shadow behind the door as he entered. Believing it to be the shadow of the man he was looking for he gave no evidence of his discovery, thinking of deceiving the man who he supposed to be armed. After looking about the waiting room Officer Cady prepared to leave and giving no notice that he had seen a shadow behind the door, he walked toward the door and when he seemed about to step out of the station he suddenly turned and sprang at the shadow behind the door. Taken by surprise, the man was quickly made prisoner and Officer Cady notified his fellow officers that he had his man who had driven the Wolverine.

A search was made for arms and a loaded .38 gun was found on Wade. He had observed the approach of the officer and holding his cocked gun in his hand he had concealed it in his pocket. Believing the officer had not observed him he was taken by surprise when the officer sprang upon him and he had no time to use the gun had he desired to. Further search disclosed a black mask such as used by burglars to conceal their face.

It was then discovered that Wade had stolen the car he was driving on Saturday at Syracuse and had driven to Sullivan county. When stopped by the trooper he believed the theft had been discovered and made a break for liberty. The Syracuse authorities were notified and Wade was brought to the county jail to await the Syracuse authorities who are expected here today to take Wade back.

Wade escaped from the institution at industry about six months ago. The Syracuse police are well acquainted with Wade who admits having been arrested four times before. To the Syracuse police he is known as the "blond boy bandit." His home is at 856 Lancaster avenue, Syracuse.

Spanish War Vets Hold Celebration

Veterans of the Spanish American War who were former members of the old Fourteenth Separate Company of this city celebrated the thirtieth anniversary of their leaving for Camp Black with a banquet at Termini's Inn along the Southern boulevard of the Ashokan reservoir on Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Twenty-six of the boys of '98 gathered to partake of one of the dinners for which this place is famed, and also to talk over the days which were passed in various camps in the United States and also in Honolulu.

William G. Merritt acted as toastmaster and called on the different speakers. Judge Joseph M. Fowler gave a talk that brought back in a most vivid manner the days when he was a second lieutenant. Homer Crispell who not only served in '98 but also in the World War told of his experiences on the other side. Lee F. Betts, the well known attorney of Catskill, recalled the visit of his Uncle Jasper at Fort Hamilton, who took the boys for a blowout at Coney Island. Milton J. Israel, general manager for the Pictorial Review, was also called on.

The principal speaker was former First Lieutenant David Terry, who recently returned from Honolulu and told of the changes which had taken place since he was there in 1898. For over an hour Mr. Terry answered questions of his old command so that the diners knew more about the changes that have taken place than they could learn by any amount of reading.

The meeting adjourned with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne." As the automobiles drove away from the inn the strains of a Victrola was heard playing "Aloha Oe" ('till we meet again).

STONY CLOVE MURDER MYSTERY STILL UNSOLVED

No clue as to the identity of the man whose body was found last week in an unoccupied house at Stony Clove has been discovered and on Saturday the remains were buried in Maplewood Cemetery at Hunter. Several ideas were advanced and the officers investigated the few slim clues but no evidence was found as to the cause of the murder, who the man was or where the crime was committed. The body was found minus head and arms in the cellar of the old Kerr house near Stony Clove in Greene county. Evidence as to how the body came there or who the man was is absolutely lacking. The body was thrown in the cellar some time during the past three weeks and was discovered by a plumber who went to the house to make repairs. The head and arms had been skillfully severed from the body possibly to erase any marks of identification.

Simple Frock That Is Both Gay and Wearable

Now that there are so many delightful printed cottons smart in design, beautiful in coloring as well as tub-fast, you may have a simple little house frock that is both gay and wearable. The Woman's Home Companion has designed this frock not only from the viewpoint of style but also has kept in mind the comfort of the wearer. Short kimono sleeves, a skirt cut circular in front for fullness and a pair of pockets—these are items which spell ease and practicability. Then, too, you will find this frock simple to make for the trimming consists merely of the use of harmonizing cotton bias binding attached neatly around the neck, sleeve edges, simulated girdle and sash ends.

Collar and Cuff Sets Are Back in Limelight

With the return to furberles and frills, it seems that there will be a place for the new collar-and-cuff sets which are now a feature in many showings of neckwear, according to a fashion writer in the New York Times. These are made of finely fluted crepe in ruffle effects. The collars are usually round and finished with a narrow ribbon tie. Cuffs are more varied and come in both narrow and wide, flaring styles. Some of these are to be seen with hemstitching and fagoting. A touch of color is also apparent in those made of polka dot silks, which have plain silk in the narrow ruffles. The colors most in evidence are white, flesh, lilac, green, maize and orchids.

Further interest in neckwear items is shown in the many new vest sets that are made with and without collars and with extra cuffs. These are made of a printed organdie that is an imported material and guaranteed to retain its original crispness at all times. The designs are mostly of small flowers, although there are occasional ones done in the modernistic manner. These vests, too, follow the trend toward elaboration in the use of the fine frills, lace edgings, linen buttons and contrasting piping.

Some of the vests are made with backs and elastics at the side to insure good fitting; others have short cap sleeves, while there are several models made in front sections only and attached at the bottom. The colors in these are limited to the pastel shades and white.

In the waistcoats the materials used are heavier and include broadcloths, linen crash and pique in silk and cotton. These are shown exclusively to small printed effects, the plain white waistcoats receiving very little attention this year. There are a few models of the latter, however, shown with sleeves and in blouse style, but made of the silk pique. On the whole the trend seems to be toward the printed waistcoats.

Chain Stitch Appears on Spring Wearables

The "chain stitch" in crochet work appears on several articles in the spring wardrobe. It is used in wool stitching to outline a pattern on coats and frocks, on felt and silk sports hats, and some of the latest handbags are entirely covered with this chain stitch in yarn on a fabric background. Colors are interwoven in the knitting, giving the effect of peasant embroidery.

A hat that may be laundered is shown in linen, heavy cotton fabrics, flannels and jersey cloth. The small drooping brim, which is stitched throughout, tapers off to almost nothing in back. The crown is molded and opens in back, but is securely fastened with two snaps. A steamer arrangement takes care of the band which is attached to the brim in back and is brought around and tied to front.

Nonstretching Fabric Is Named Kashatulla

Among the strange new fabrics Rodier of Paris has created is one named kashatulla which has a tulike mesh, although it is made of kashmere wool.

Kashatulla is used by some of the leading dressmakers with great success, its chief characteristics being a nonstretching quality which makes it acceptable in a season of fabrics rather difficult to work.

Nautical Term

The Supreme court bench to chief judge of the court of appeals in the previous year.

He took office as Supreme court justice January 1, 1929.

Much Patronage to Bestow

During his term on the Supreme court bench, Judge Betts was called upon to bestow more patronage in the form of appointments than usually falls to the lot of a justice of the Supreme court, but in all of these matters, from their inception to their close, there was never the slightest breath of criticism except such as naturally arises through partisanship.

During his fourteen years on the Supreme court bench, Judge Betts was the only Democratic justice in the Third judicial department. Judicial campaigns in recent years have shown that in the eyes of politicians, partisanship is not entirely dissociated from those who wear the ermine.

In matters involving patronage capable of being bestowed by the courts, with the consequent demand from politicians that Supreme court justices shall be selected with consideration to their political affiliations as well as their ability.

Appointed Many Commissioners

Foremost in the way of patronage came the appointment of commissioners of appraisal for condemnation of lands in Ulster county required by the city of New York for construction of the Ashokan reservoir and Catskill aqueduct. New York city was then governed by Mayor George B. McClellan, a Democrat, and as the condemnation proceedings must be brought before a Supreme court justice in the Third district, the New York corporation counsel's office brought them before Judge Betts not only because he was the resident justice of Ulster county, where the lands were located, but also because he was the only Democratic justice in the district.

Beginning in 1907 and continuing for several years, Judge Betts appointed every condemnation commission in the Ashokan and aqueduct project. He appointed men of high standing both from Ulster county, the city of New York and other counties of the Third district.

His appointment of commissioners was not confined to Democrats, and among the prominent Republicans he appointed were Supr. Court Justice G. D. B. Hasbrouck and the late County Judge Charles F. Cantone.

Appointed Bank Receivers

When the incipient business panic of 1907 started, a number of state banks and trust companies located in

New York city and Brooklyn were found to be in shaky condition, and the attorney general took proceedings before Judge Betts one Saturday for the appointment of receivers of seven such banks.

Among the receivers appointed by Judge Betts at that time were Bruyn Hasbrouck of New Paltz and the late Hon. Isaac N. Cox of Ellenville. The other receivers were residents of New York city or Brooklyn. Subsequently some of the banks reorganized and resumed business.

Proceedings against some of the other banks continued to drag through the court for several years, and in each case Judge Betts devoted himself to careful study of conditions and became thoroughly familiar with them, so familiar in fact that attorneys for the banks or deputies of the attorney general looked to him to correct them in misstatements which they might make in regard to what had already happened in the various phases of the litigation.

Appointed to Appellate Court

While William Sulzer was governor, he appointed Judge Betts to the appellate division of the Supreme court for the Third district, a post which the judge had desired but which, it was thought politically, cost him a re-nomination in 1912, because his removal from the circuit court work in the seven counties of the district had caused him to lose contact with the lawyers who were largely instrumental in bringing about the nomination that year.

Judge Betts' activity in Democratic politics was constant for many years. In 1891 he was chairman of the Democratic county committee, from 1896 to 1898 he was a member of the Democratic state committee, and at various times except while he was on the Supreme court bench he attended state and national conventions of his party.

Head of City Hospital

For a number of years Judge Betts was a member of the board of managers of the City of Kingston Hospital and in later years was its president. He took an active interest in hospital affairs and was especially active after the fire which destroyed the building and in the campaign to raise funds for rebuilding it. He had hoped to see the building completed.

Other Activities

During many years Judge Betts was a trustee of the Kingston Savings Bank and in later years was its attorney; he was a trustee of Wilkes Rural Cemetery Association for about thirty years; member of the Senate House Association; vice president of the National Ulster County Bank and a director of the Pine Hill Water Company. Socially he was a member of Kingston Lodge, No. 16, F. and A. M.; Franklin Lodge, No. 37, Knights of Pythias; Aretas Lodge, No. 172, Independent Order of Odd Fellows; the Founders

ROUGE RIVER FLOODS SWEEP AWAY BRIDGES

Montreal, Que., May 7 (AP)—Flood waters of the Rouge river and its tributaries in the northern part of the Laurentian section have swept away five highway bridges and a $30,000 electric power and light plant at St. Jovite. There was no loss of life.

The floods resulted from the breaking of three power dams at Lake Croche, St. Jovite and Prefontaine, under the pressure of waters released by the melting of snow and ice during the warm weather of the past few days. The waters were receding today.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAY 7, 1928.

It is widely known that the Bible has long been the best seller among books, but it is "news" that "The Boy Scout Handbook" ranks second in volume of sales.

G. K. Chesterton laments that "we have beheaded the republics as we did the king and left only the public—a dismal object"—meaning that the old-time "kick" from the people when things went wrong is no longer forthcoming. Apparently the English, like Americans, are too closely occupied with business and pleasure to care or even to know.

"La Grande Epreuve" (The Great Test), France's motion picture of the World War, now ready after ten years of work, is said to be different from all the war movies of other nations in that its spirit is "one of patriotism untinted by bitterness toward former enemies." That puts it in harmony with the popular trend of the times which promises to last—until there is another war.

After much discussion in which the newspapers joined the school authorities of Oklahoma City have decided not to expel Vernon Holman, aged 12, for refusing to salute the flag. Vernon explained that he meant no disrespect when he obeyed the mandate of the religious sect of his family not to recognize "earthly powers", one of which he judged the United States to be. Vernon appears to be a bright boy, but there is a good deal still left for him to learn.

Mrs. Clarence G. Goodwin, former head of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, gives away secrets that rouse men's interest. Analyzing women, she finds them 30 per cent the home-maker or "ideal" type, 20 per cent the jazz type, 20 per cent the drudge type, 15 per cent the nagging type and 15 per cent the baby doll type. Thus there are five definite classes, and a man's chances of getting an ideal wife are only three out of ten. Now let some honest and clear-headed male analyze men, and tell what chances a woman has of getting an ideal partner. By the way, Mrs. Goodwin thinks most women, regardless of undesirable tendencies, would turn out good home-makers if they were provided with "good plumbing, well-built kitchen and labor-saving devices of all sorts."

HUGHES ON INTERVENTION.

Although he displayed the abilities of a finished diplomat at the Havana Pan-American Conference, evidently the distinguished Charles Evans Hughes has his doubts as to whether the flag should follow the dollar into the more backward republics of this hemisphere. He does not hesitate to say so, at least indirectly. In the home atmosphere where expert diplomacy is not demanded. Addressing the American Society of International Law in Washington the other night, he said in part:

If misguided persons, abusing the power with which they were temporarily intrusted, attempted to embark on a policy hostile to the proper enjoyment by the Latin-American republics of their sovereignty and independence, that policy would speedily and justly be repudiated and the authors of it condemned. Even efforts in the interest of public order, for the purpose of assisting in the maintenance of a reasonable stability and of protecting lives and property, meet with constant criticism and are carefully watched to prevent the hatching of any imperialistic scheme.

This has the sound of an intended warning to the Administration not to go too far in Nicaragua, and even to pause to consider whether it has not gone too far already. At the least it is significant as an admission that this country has its imperialists and that they are being "watched" to prevent them from misleading a Government already too much influenced by powerful and grasping industrial interests.

LA PATRIE ON LINDBERGH.

Canadians are apt to be a bit "touchy" when it is suggested, even indirectly, that the United States is ahead of their country in the march of progress, and this helps to explain the ungracious remarks attributed to the Provisional Secretary of Quebec in connection with Lindbergh's serum-carrying flight to the bedside of the lamented Bennett. The Secretary's remarks grew as they spread Lindbergh's act of comradeship and mercy because "a vulgar spectacle" and "a vulgar spectacle" and "a vulgar spectacle". As if Lindbergh, who is afflicted with words and is doing his utmost to overcome them, decided to fly into Canada to advertise himself. It is gratifying to know that such gratuitous statements have been rebuked by the true story of events, showing that the flight was a reflection upon Canadian physicians and resources, but that it was preceded by telephone talks between the Rockefeller Institute and the medical authorities of Quebec, and after consultation the offer of a special serum was gratefully accepted.

And it is very pleasing to find that in an editorial La Patrie of Montreal said that on his errand of "charity and devotion" Lindbergh "pierced the fog and storm, laughed at snow and wind, and suddenly dropped from the clouds with his face of an archangel." As its glowing French is translated, La Patrie said further that it is Lindbergh "who does everything best," and that nobody should feel ashamed to display immense enthusiasm for one who "projects his lofty shadow over an entire epoch and lights it up by his soul and courage and winged genius." This from Canada itself is a fitting response to the ill-timed irritation of its super-patriots.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

BY James W. Barton, M. D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

PERSPIRATION AND HEALTH.

Perhaps you have wondered just how much perspiration had to do with health.

You see some individuals who on little exertion perspire very freely, and others will do the same work with scarcely any perspiration showing.

Now if a person is carrying considerable weight it is really a good sign to see the perspiration flow freely. If underweight, and perspiration flows very freely on slight exertion, it is really a sign of general weakness.

I have spoken before about the benefit derived from free perspiration in withdrawing heat from the body.

The relation of perspiration to heart and blood vessel disturbances has been investigated by Drs. Kauff and Zak of Vienna, in seventeen cases.

By the use of a filter paper and an silver nitrate solution they were enabled to see the location and number of the sweat glands. They found that the amount of sweat or perspiration secreted was normal in only three of the seventeen cases, was entirely absent in three cases, and lessened in eleven cases. That is, fourteen of the seventeen cases did not secrete or manufacture the normal amount of sweat.

Does this mean that where there is a leakage of the heart, real organic trouble, that the sweat will not be secreted in sufficient quantities?

No, because they had also fifteen cases with actual valvular trouble, and the sweat secretion was normal.

Why?

Because the heart muscle, notwithstanding the leak, was able to do its work properly.

On the other hand they had twenty-seven other cases of heart leakage where the sweat was less than normal.

Why?

Because the heart muscle was not able to do its work, and there followed enlarged liver, swelling of the hands and feet, and defective kidneys. Water did not come away from the body as sweat.

Improvement under treatment of these cases, was always accompanied by an increase in the sweat secretion. The lesson here is that heart leakage with murmur is not dangerous in itself. If there is no breathlessness on ordinary exertion, and perspiration flows freely, there is likely no danger.

Breathlessness on slight exertion, and a lessened amount of perspiration, are signals that you should put yourself into your physician's hands at once.

Historic Warfare
 The Punic wars is the name given to a series of wars between Rome and Carthage in the Third and Second centuries B. C. "Punicus" is the Latin or Roman adjective meaning pertaining to the Carthaginians. It is from "Poeni," meaning the inhabitants of Carthage. From the viewpoint of the Romans the Carthaginians were faithless and treacherous; hence Punic faith is a classical phrase meaning bad faith.—Pitt-Rivers Magazine.

Flashes of Life

(By The Associated Press.)
 New York—The eagle on the silver quarter has his feet tucked up back, rather than forward, to show that he is the country he represents are not warlike and ready to pounce on weaker prey. And H. A. MacNeil, who designed the coin, says to one has yet convinced him that flying eagles do not carry their feet trailing.

Constantinople—The Moslem peasantry, which feels that recent disastrous earthquakes resulted from the Government's repudiation of Islam as the state religion, is being clandestinely circulated with manifestoes calling for a religious revolt.

New York—Tex Rickard is certain that Jack Dempsey won't climb back into the ring for a year at least. Jack has theatrical contracts involving an advance outlay of some $75,000, and that renovated nose must be protected.

Boston—Now comes an iconoclast to indicate the first "Right" in the United States was a hoax. John Childs has been credited, since 1737, with having circled in a glider about the steeple of the Old North Church, landing on the shore of the Charles river. Now Otis Rice, assistant to the archdeacon of the church, suggests that what Childs actually did was coast down a rope and pulley.

Kansas City—Republican pocket-books should be safe during the convention. Fourteen cities will send experts to assist Kansas City detectives.

New York—Ira L. Hill and his former wife, Kathryn Carver, will be married again soon—but not to each other. Hill is engaged to Doris Godwin, society girl. In Paris this week Miss Carver will become the bride of Adolphe Menjou, opposite whom she had played in films.

West Point, N. Y.—Another princess has featured a cadet boy and has made another of Uncle Sam's future officers the talk of the mess. New York—At a cost of $100,000 A. B. See is advocating among other things that children be taught their A B C's backward as well as forwards. He has had a book published giving his views on education and modern women. Men, he writes, are better, more honest and less quarrelsome than women.

Oakland, Cal.—Dr. Benjamin Harrison Lehman, author of "Wild Marriage," is seeking a divorce from Mrs. Gladys Collins Lehman, a scenario writer. They have been trying a "trial separation."

MISS PLANK NEW HEAD OF CEN. HUDSON HOME SERVICE

Due to the resignation of Miss Nellie Davenport, home service director of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation, the classes are now being conducted by Miss Elizabeth Plank. Miss Plank is a graduate of Skidmore College and is well qualified to carry on the home service work in Kingston. She has given several demonstrations in Kingston, and has been active at the company office in Rosendale, so is not entirely unfamiliar to members of the home service classes in this vicinity.

Tuesday evening, May 8, at 7:30 and Wednesday afternoon, May 9, at 2:30, Miss Plank will give a lesson on "The Sunday Evening Supper." This lesson will include several menus and a demonstration of the main recipes included in them. How to prepare a tempting and appetizing supper without spending too much time in the kitchen is the problem which this lesson will solve for the housewife.

The classes are held in the home service auditorium at 5 Field Court every week, and all women, whether they have ever attended before or not are cordially invited to join the class.

Skeptical

Three-year-old Mary Catherine lives in an Indiana mining town. When there is to be work on the mines on the following day, the whistles are blown at 8 p. m. One evening her mother said to her: "Now hurry up and put the toys away, when the 8 o'clock whistles blow it will be time to go to bed." Soon she heard the sound she dreaded to hear and she remarked very casually, "I hear the 8 o'clock whistles, but I don't believe them."

On Rearing Children from CRIB to COLLEGE

Compiled by the Editors of "CHILDREN,"
The Magazine for PARENTS

Fresh air, night and day, is as necessary to nutrition as food.

Children frequently push beads, heads and other small objects into the nose, and sometimes objects are pushed in so far that blowing the nose will not dislodge the foreign body. In this case, it is advisable to have a physician remove the object as soon as possible. A bean or pea, if left in any length of time will swell up because of the moisture present, and make the process of removal very difficult.

A child's desire for harmless secrets should be understood. It is an expression of his need for a feeling of self-importance and can often be turned into the right channel.

Courtesy and thoughtfulness on the part of adults toward all members of the household (parents, children, servants, etc.) are essential if the child is to develop these qualities.

Lawyers Don't Know Court Hours

Special Term Hours Are From Ten O'clock Until Noon, Says Judge Nichols, When Lawyers Are Late.

The regular monthly special term of the Supreme Court for Ulster county was held at the court house Saturday by Justice Charles E. Nichols of Schoharie county, who presided at the bench as the first Dutch Church clock was striking ten. There were a few lawyers in the court room but their adversaries were not present; a few other lawyers were talking in the corridor.

"Lawyers here don't seem to know court hours," said the judge, after waiting five minutes for some lawyer to start something. "If our way court starts promptly at ten o'clock and closes promptly at twelve, and those are my special term hours here."

Brickyard Laborer Bought Auto.

Among the cases heard was that of the Poughkeepsie L. A. W. Credit Corporation against Walter Washington and the Germania-Morgan Motor Sales, Inc., in which defendant moved to change the place of trial from Dutchess to Ulster county on the ground that the transaction occurred and a majority of witnesses live in Ulster county. Milton A. Auchmoody appeared for Washington, a brickyard laborer residing in Kingston, and Andrew J. Cook for plaintiff.

The action, to recover the balance due on a note for $250 given in part payment of an automobile, is contested by Washington on the ground that deception was practiced on him, inasmuch as the car purchased was represented to be a 1924 model but he discovered later it was of 1922 vintage. The contract was made in Kingston and Washington has six Ulster county witnesses, exclusive of himself and his wife, but none of the witnesses was present when the contract was made.

The action was also brought against the party negotiating the note, who had filed a notice of appearance but had not served any answer.

Mr. Cook objected to changing the venue because all the parties were not before the court, and Judge Nichols denied the motion without costs but with leave to renew when all parties were properly before the court.

Lawyer Withdraws From Case.

In the cases of Mary Mateleski against Millie Guillob, which were tried at the March term of Supreme court and resulted in judgments for plaintiff, William A. Kaerscher, for the defendant, moved to compel plaintiff's attorney, Francis C. Merritt, to enter the judgments in the county clerk's office.

Mr. Merritt, in opposition, said he had been retained to try the cases and $25 had been paid as a retaining fee, but his entire fees had not been paid. He was willing to have the court appoint anyone to take the judgments, and later, when he had been paid his reasonable fee, to enter the judgments; otherwise he feared he would not get his money.

Judge Nichols said he was not going to determine what Mr. Merritt's services were worth, but he would order him to enter the judgments within three days or the defendants might do so. The judgments would, of course, be impressed with a lien for attorney's fees.

"Do I have to pay those fees?" asked Mr. Merritt.

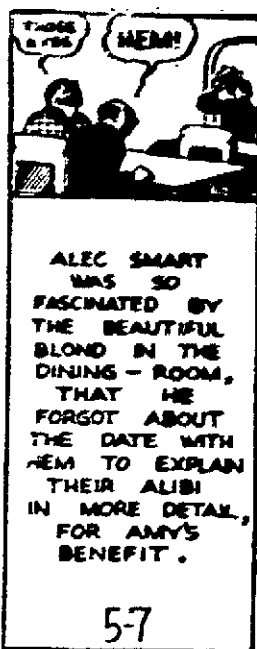

"What are they, fifty cents?" inquired Judge Nichols.

"We will pay them," said Mr. Kaerscher.

"I ask the court here to substitute someone else as attorney," said Mr. Merritt. "As I refuse to try anything further for the plaintiff."

Judge Nichols refused the request.

Teacher—Can anybody describe a worm?

Sophisticated Brat—Yeh, a worm's a caterpillar who played strip poker.

Most any man becomes strong for conservation of water power—when his wife begins to cry.

Office Boy—Your wife telephoned she'd like to see you about five, sir.

Boss—Did she say whether it was about five dollars or five o'clock?

"Who is that awful-looking frump over there?"

"Why, that's my wife."

"Oh—er—pardon. My mistake."

"No—mine."

Judge: "Why did you hit the dry goods clerk, madam?"

Mrs. Knock: "Well, your honor, I asked her to show me something suitable in neckwear for myself and she looked at my neck and then handed me a washrag."

"Jimnie," said the teacher, "what is your greatest ambition?"

Jimnie considered thoughtfully.

"I think," he said, "it is to wash mother's ears."

The only exercise some men seem to get is in dodging creditors.

"When can I expect to receive the money you owe me?"

"Always."

Grocer's Little Son (at the theatre): "Daddy, why do those four men sing together all the time?"

Father: "Because one of them wouldn't like to take the blame."

We have always entertained a friendly feeling toward Belgium until recently we learned that a Belgian invented the saxophone.

"And what are you going to do," we asked the budding poet, "with the money you got for writing the best essay on the subject of why the laundries should do all our washings?"

"Buy strong soap with it for my wife to do the neighbor's washing."

The reason flappers are in no danger of brain fever is because all their time is spent on the outside instead of the inside of their heads.

Mrs. Old-Timer—It says here in the paper that the young girls today are abandoning all restrictions.

Mr. Old-Timer—Well, I'd better not catch Mabel without her's on.

The saddest days of every woman's life are those which come when she begins to realize that her son is growing up to be just the same kind of a man his dad is.

Two enemies are two potential friends who just don't know each other.

"I was very incorrectly reported," said the public speaker. "The press credited me with a much better speech than the one I actually delivered."

Foreman—Pat, you had no right to touch that wire. Don't you know you might have been killed?"

Pat—Sure, I felt it carefully before I took hold of it."

It's called cold cash because we don't keep it long enough to get it warm.

Gentlemen—Warning.

All men take warning who enter here.

We have a request which may sound queer:

On no account must you ask a lady to dance—

Tonight is "Leap Year" and you must wait your chance.

The manufacturers of silk hosiery for women are not living up to their possibilities by naming their goods "moonlight," "atmosphere," "evening," "shadow," and the like. A "seemore" brand should prove a best seller.

Solution of preceding puzzle.

In the hour before "going out"
time...

Busy all the day and just a few short breathing spaces between dinner and time to "go out"—yet ample opportunity to make the most of one's appearance. Shining fluffy hair, showing the effect of good care, brings beauty to the plainest of women. Shampooed with plenty of hot water and a foamy lather, only a moment's time is needed to have it bright and full of life.

With hot water on tap at the instant it is needed, an effective beauty treatment can take place in the hour before going out. With a gas storage water heater to assure this hot water supply, unlady emerges dainty and sweet, bathed and shampooed—ready to assume the evening's duties.

The following plumbers sell gas storage water heaters in your territory.

TO OUR PATRONS:

The policy of the Broadway, the only first-run theatre owned and operated by local interests, has always been to offer you the best entertainment available at the lowest admission charge. We are now ready to present another big feature—VITAPHONE. The installation of this marvel of the age has been made at a tremendous expense, and greater additional cost will be entailed in bringing famous artists and orchestras to the Broadway for you to hear and see. Wherever VITAPHONE has been introduced admissions have ranged from $1.10 to $2.20. We are not raising our prices, however, but are offering you this famous attraction at our usual popular prices.

HARRY LAZARUS.

The word to adequately express one's reaction to the marvelous, vital, uncanny reproduction that develops through Vitaphone before one's ears and eyes has not been coined. In the Broadway Theatre of Kingston Vitaphone will bring the best in music, voice, expression and vitalized pictures.

MAX L. REBEN.

It should be a source of pride to all Kingstonsians that you have installed "the latest" in your theatre. The Vitaphone is wonderful in its realistic and perfectly synchronized presentation of voice and action.

B. C. VAN INGEN.

Every member of the organized crafts should make it a point to hear this new development in science. Great!

HARRY F. GERHARDT.
Carpenters' Union 231.

I can't find words to express myself. It was most wonderful.

SELINE S. BLOCK.

It surely is a revelation of the development in the screen industry. The citizens of Kingston should be proud of the fact that you have taken this initiative in providing them with this modern and wonderful instrument and keeping step with the marked progress in the industry which you represent in this community.

MORTON LOWN,
Pres. Cent. Bus. Men's Association.

Thank you for the privilege you gave us this morning. The Vitaphone synchronizing as it does, the vocal and instrumental sound with the acted picture is destined to rank . . . in importance with the invention of the motion picture itself. I marvel at the wonders of the Vitaphone.

LUCAS ROEVE, D. D.

In response to your invitation, I dropped in the theatre just meaning to stay a few minutes and thank you for the courtesy. I was so interested and pleased with the Vitaphone that I remained to the end. I congratulate you and the people of the city are to be congratulated that you have given them the opportunity to hear and see this wonderful invention.

Italia Awaits Better Weather

Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, May 7 (AP)—The dirigible Italia was safe at her base today awaiting favorable weather for a series of trips over unexplored wastes of the Arctic and to the North Pole itself.

Despite extremely unfavorable weather conditions, General Umberto Nobile brought the airship from Vadsø, Norway, some 700 miles across the Arctic Ocean, to Kings Bay in sixteen and a half hours and made her fast to the mooring mast of the base ship Citta di Milano. A high wind was blowing and the dirigible was forced to stay anchored to the ship for many hours since it was impossible to put her in the hangar used by the Norge when General Nobile flew from here over the North Pole in 1926.

A heavy snowfall and contrary winds were encountered throughout Saturday night on the flight here. The Italia, however, was in constant wireless communication with the base ship and the Geophysical Institute at Tromsø, which supplied detailed data on the weather.

Veteran Man Has Broken Neck

The condition of Augustus Mulford of Veteran, who is in the City of Kingston Hospital suffering from a broken neck, the result of an automobile accident, was reported very serious at the hospital. Mr. Mulford was taken from Veteran, town of Saugerties, to the hospital Saturday evening at 9 o'clock.

Glen Robinson, mechanic, reported that while driving Mr. Mulford's car he had collided with a car driven by Ira Vedder of Saugerties near Veteran and that the impact hurled Mr. Mulford from the car into the highway. The crash also resulted in injuries to Mrs. Vedder, who was riding with her husband.

Robinson, who is employed in a garage at Saugerties, was hired by Mr. Mulford to drive him back to Veteran. The State Troopers are investigating the crash.

ANNUAL REUNION OF PIONEER VETERANS.

The fifth annual reunion and banquet of the Pioneer Veterans of F 51 will be held on Saturday evening, May 26, at Golden Rule Inn. It will also be the tenth anniversary of the induction into the National Army during the World War of the members.

The Pioneer Veterans of F 51 is an organization of men who served at some time with F Company, 51st Pioneer Infantry. Plans are under way to make this a gala affair and a night long to be remembered by the veterans. Each member has the privilege of bringing a friend at the same cost as to the member. This has been taken advantage of by many friends of the members. A business session will be held before the banquet, at which time officers will be elected. Music will be furnished for the occasion and it is expected that several vocal selections will be rendered by members and guests during the evening.

The present officers of the organization are: Eugene Cornwell, president; Edward Wortman, first vice president; Joseph Wisneski, second vice president; Martin Mooney, secretary; Peter Keresman, treasurer; Benjamin Bleitchofer, historian; Henry Munch, sergeant at arms.

Knew What She Wanted

Ellen was four, enterprising, observant and well educated, and her mother had gone to New York.

"And what, Ellen," said George, her father, "shall we do this beautiful Sunday afternoon? Mother has taken the car, so we can't go for a ride."

"I think," said Ellen, "I would like to go to the Copley-Plaza for tea."

She had heard her mother say that. In the hotel, a polite waiter handed Ellen a very large menu, covered with du jour and a la carte things.

"I think," said Ellen, "I would like an ice cream cone," thus breaking the Copley-Plaza record.

Magic Comments

It is an interesting fact that the elevated and poetic connotations of the word "window" seem to have clustered about the "casement." There is a charm about the casement which seems never to have been equalled by the appeal of the sliding sash. I don't know why this should be so, unless it be that the evident utility of a sash which swings on hinges and opens completely makes a greater appeal to the fancy.—Your Home Magazine.

Weekly Foreign News Review

(By the Associated Press.)

The clash of the Japanese and Chinese Nationalists at Tsinan, capital of Shantung province has overshadowed the internecine war between the north and the south. For the moment the Nationalists push toward Peking, the northern capital, has been forgotten in the more serious consequences entailed in Japan's intervention to protect her own and other foreign Nationals in China.

On the occupation of Tsinan by Nationalist troops, the Japanese took measures to save the foreign settlement from the ravages of war. Each side blamed the other for the fighting that ensued. Nationalist officials were reported to have been deliberately slain and many Japanese soldiers killed or wounded. There were reports also of the death of numerous Japanese civilians.

With so many powers involved in China by treaty rights, and with the Japanese government obligated to take some action against the Chinese authorities, the situation immediately became a dangerous one. Japanese reinforcements were hurried to the scene of the conflict and to various strategic points. American and British warships are known to be stationed at ports in Chinese waters where their services may be available.

Chang Tso-lin, the northern dictator at Peking, offered support to the Japanese in the way of arms and munitions, to aid them in holding back the southerners, but the Japanese are said to have replied that they could handle this affair themselves.

At Tokyo the government is beset by the opposition parties, and last week a vote of non-confidence in Premier Tanaka was threatened. The political situation at Tokyo makes the affair more difficult to handle, and reports from the Japanese capital indicated that the people there were not conversant with all the facts. The diet, however, even in the disturbed atmosphere, adopted the supplementary budget, providing for a large amount to cover the expeditions in Shantung.

General Umberto Nobile's arctic expedition is well under way. In his great dirigible Italia he has landed at Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, at which place he will eventually prepare for important scientific researches in the frozen north.

A Transylvanian Republic looms to alarm the royalists of Rumania. Peasants under the leadership of Juliu Maniu, who has been a thorn in the flesh of Premier Bratianu—thousands of them have gathered at Alba Julia, where the late King Ferdinand and Queen Marie were crowned. Other thousands are assembling at various other cities, to enter a combined protest against what Maniu describes as an "illegal, tyrannical, incompetent government." Action by the peasants to oust Bratianu, and set up a Republic under Maniu has been suggested among the possibilities.

Secretary Kellogg's anti-war proposal brought a prompt response from Germany, which favors such an agreement.

Egypt has been brought to terms by Great Britain on its proposed legislative measure for public assemblies. The British government would have none of this, and compelled the Egyptian premier to lay it aside, at least temporarily. Great Britain is of the belief that the subject will not be revived.

The celebration of May Day throughout the world was mild, compared with previous years. Russia, which submitted a proposal to the League of Nations for total disarmament, gave a great military display of all arms of the service without disorder. In Warsaw, Poland, eight persons lost their lives. In other cities celebrations were confined largely to harmless processions and speeches.

All the children of the Kingston Hebrew school and Sunday school are invited to the party Tuesday, May 8, at 5 p. m. Louis Kaplan, president of the Kingston Hebrew School, expects all to attend.

Centrals Lose Opening Game To West New York

Van Buren Pitches in Rare Form in First Contest of Season—Home Run in Ninth Inning Secures the Game.

A perfect baseball day accompanied the Centrals in the opening game of their 1934 baseball campaign at the Athletic Field Saturday when they were defeated by the West New York Red Sox 7 to 4. Although Kingston found Naimo and Smith, the Red Sox's six, only four of the Centrals' men scored. One in the first two in the fourth and one in the fifth. Moore and Hoffman each got a hit. Kingston scored all his runs off Naimo, who was replaced in the seventh by Smith.

New York Scores in First.

Gabriel first man to face Cragan. He walked. Cendo was thrown out at first. Coyne hit a fast liner to right. He dug it out of the dirt. Cragan didn't get it over to first in time. Cragan now began to lose control. He walked Nephf and Knoll and Naimo was forced home for the first run. Coyne sprinted home on Naimo's long sacrifice to right. Cragan drove one out to left which was taken by Schwab, and Knoll died at base.

Cragan began the second inning by striking Koch. The latter was caught going to second on Naimo's hit to third. Gabriel then came through with a two base hit and Cragan walked off the field. With two men on Van Buren went to work. He fanned the first man that faced him but Coyne doubled to left scoring Naimo and Gabriel. Nephf was thrown out at first retiring the side.

Van Buren's Pitching Effective. From the second inning on the West New Yorkers collected but four hits. Van Buren pitched good ball but his control slipped up on him once in the fourth when he walked Koch and again in the ninth when he walked Gabriel. He struck out five men in the two New York pitchers three.

It was a wonderful game from the second inning on and it was too bad to see Van Buren's excellent piece of work end so deplorably.

Kingston Ties Score in Sixth.

In the sixth Van Buren fished out the pitcher and Davitt, second on to the plate, hit a hot liner to right. It must have been hot for Cragan fumbled it. Merritt also hit third but Davitt was caught going second. Slicker then came through with a long hit to left center which sent for two bases and on this Nephf hit Merritt galloped home.

Nephf Hits Homer in Ninth.

Smith fanned and Gabriel was tossed in the ninth. Cendo came through with a scratch hit and Coyne fanned the ball for a single to left. Cendo was caught going to second. A snappy throw made by Nephf connected with the ball for a homer over Hoffman's head in right field. Gabriel, Coyne and Nephf trotted home to add three more runs to their tally.

Centrals Lost At Middletown

Jim Volker did the pitching for the Centrals and was found for fifteen safeties. Heens was touched for nine by the Centrals, two of which were registered by Jack Robins and Willie Schwab.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By the Associated Press.)

Haskell Billings, Detroit's youthful pitching star, is out for revenge on Buddy Myer, shortstop of Bill Carrigan's Boston Red Sox.

Billings, who learned his pitching at Brown University, hurled the Tigers to a 3 to 0 victory over the Red Sox at Detroit yesterday and would have had a no-hit game to his credit if Buddy only had deserted the opposition for the day. Billings allowed but two hits, and both went to Myer. They were singles and Buddy got no further than first base for his pains. Seidmire started for Boston but was derailed with one out in the second inning after he had given up three hits and walked four men. Bradley pitched fine ball for the Sox the rest of the way.

The crew of the transatlantic plane Bremen, and a large throng of fans watched the Chicago White Sox for the third day in a row, 4 to 2, at the Yankee Stadium. It was a tough one for Red Faber, Chicago veteran, to lose. He was touched for only six hits but these included homers by Gehrig and Dugan, the former's being his third of the season. Stanley Coveleski, veteran poise, not credit for the Yankee victory although he had to call for assistance from Wilcy Moore before the game was over. The Sox got nine hits including a circuit drive by Barrett. Babe Ruth went hitless in two official trips to the plate.

Sam Gray registered his sixth win of the season when the St. Louis Browns turned back the Senators at Washington, 6 to 6, in a thrilling 11-inning game. Gray was a champion in difficulty but always managed to pull through. His single in the eleventh put Schanz in a position to score the winning run on O'Rourke's sacrifice. Bucky Harris, pilot of the Senators, handled 12 chances at second base and got two hits, one a triple with the bases loaded.

The New York Giants, National League leaders, suffered their second straight defeat at Cincinnati, 4 to 3, in 10 innings. The Reds fielded exceptionally, completing four double plays. John McGraw announced that Vic Aldridge, former pirate right hander holdout, had come to terms with the Giants.

At St. Louis, the Cardinals and Brooklyn Robins divided a double header before 33,000 fans. Dazzy Vance allowed but six hits and fanned a half dozen in the first game but lost the decision to Grover Alexander and the Red Birds, 4 to 2. Roettger's homer in the second inning gave the Cards an early lead and three hits in the eighth settled the issue. In the closing encounter, Babe Herman's four-base drive with a man on base in the eighth enabled the Robins to earn a 5 to 4 decision. Hafer drove in four runs with a homer and a single.

Pat Malone, American Association strike-out artist, threw a fast ball past the Phillies for five innings as the Chicago Cubs eked out a 5 to 4 decision over the invaders in 11 innings. Malone relieved Sheriff Blake in the seventh with the bases loaded, got out of the jam with one run scored against him and then turned back the Phils the rest of the way. He fanned eight men.

The four other major league clubs had an open date.

His Viewpoint

"A very promising young man," we said. "He will do big things."

"We have no thundering mazy 'going-to-dare' now," said old Feste. "That we used to be not men that are going to do, but those that have already done—we need 'dinner' not 'going-to-dare' or 'might-be'—we need 'HUMPH'—Kazoo City Star.

Sack of Work

The Lippy paid, responsible employee seldom has anything but a real physical breakdown. The poorly paid person suffers all kinds of his slumps from a job complex—Wagner's Home Companion.

Great Singer Well Paid

Jenny Lind was the highest paid singer of her day, the price paid for a seat to hear her often being from $1 to $5. However, tickets sold at auction brought as high as $500 each. P. T. Barnum, in his autobiography, gives the amount paid to Jenny Lind for her American tour as $175,075.02. This entire amount was devoted to founding and endowing art scholarships and other charities in her native Sweden.

Colored All-Stars

Sunday afternoon at the Athletic Field the Hebrew-Americans defeated the Colored All-Stars, 19-6. Marrow was pitched for the winners, allowed but eight hits and walked one man. Jarland allowed the Hebrew-Americans thirteen hits and six walks.

Results on Local Diamonds

The Pan-Ams took a close game from the Blue Sox Sunday afternoon at the Saugerties Road diamond, which ended 3-2. Tommy Lewis, who did the hurting for the losers, pitched in good style except in the fifth when the first two runs of the game were made by the Sox. Carrington, Pan-Am pitcher, performed well but had one bad inning, the eighth. In this frame he allowed four hits, but had base running stopped the chances to score. The Sox planned two runs in the ninth after loading the bases on an error and two hits. The two run rally was made when Lay, after dropping a fly, threw wildly to catch a runner at the plate. The Cardinals of Newburgh will play the Pan-Ams here next Sunday.

The Goldenrods fell before the attack of the hard hitting Clements and the A-1 brand pitching of Luke Matheis at Hasbrouck Park Sunday afternoon. The score was 12-2. While Matheis sent twelve Goldenrods to the showers his teammates clouted the pill to all corners of the lot, scoring 12 times out of 16 blows. Vic Spalt, captain, took the hitting honors by rounding out three doubles and a single out of five times at bat. The Clements were in the rear until the fourth inning, when they began their effective hitting. Tuesday evening the Clements will play their first night game with the Maroon A. C. at Hasbrouck Park. The game will start at 6:15.

The Roundout A. C. trimmed the Rosendale baseball club, 23-7, at Block Park Sunday afternoon, when 22 hits in all were cleaned by the winners. "Doc" Feeney led the hitters with six hits to his credit out of the same number of trials. Four doubles and two singles were registered off the bat of Feeney, who also did good work in the outfield. Dulin and Peters made good five times out of six times at bat. Ken Best pitched in good form for the Roundouts.

Big Buying In Wall Street Is Unexplained

New York, May 7 (AP).—Buying orders poured into the stock market from all sections of the country today and prices leaped upward in impressive fashion. Extreme gains in the active issue ranged from 2 to nearly 10 points, with blocks of 50,000 to 200,000 shares appearing on the tape at frequent intervals.

The accumulation of orders forced the ticker to fall nearly 45 minutes behind the market by early afternoon.

There were no new developments over the week-end to explain the tremendous volume of buying. The brisk demand for such high grade issues as American Telephone, International Telephone, American Bank Note, American Can, Canadian Pacific and Jersey Central, all of which advanced 3 to 12 points to new peak prices, was widely considered as an indication of a large investment demand.

Banks called about $15,000,000 in loans by early afternoon, but there appeared to be a large surplus of funds available at renewal rate of 5 per cent on call loans.

Short covering accelerated the rise in many specialties, particularly those in which the floating supply was small. Brokers reported that the recent efforts of federal reserve authorities to curb speculation had resulted in the building up of a large short interest but the public demand for stocks was so large that many timid "bears" ran to cover on the appearance of strong buying support for supposedly over-priced shares.

Electric auto-lites soared nearly 14 points to a new peak at 203 1/2.
American bank note extended its gain to nearly 9 points by touching 137. Canadian Pacific climbed 7 1/2 points to 221, the highest price in 12 years, and Jersey Central sold at 375 for the first time since 1912.

General Motors ran into heavy profit-taking after creating a new peak at 210, but held within a few points of that level. Gains of 2 to 5 points were shattered throughout the list.

Total sales crossed the 2,500,000 share mark before the end of the third hour.

The SANDMAN STORY

THE FLOWERS

THE flowers from the garden had been sent in a box to the city.
Some one in the city who was very fond of this particular garden had received the box.

And after one box had come, many others followed along, for the first box was sent when the first flowers came out in the spring, and they followed one right after the other after that.

And oh, how the flowers from the garden did enjoy their reception when they arrived.

They were greeted so delightfully.
"You dear pale lavender tulips," the lady said as she received the flowers

then, just a little, for that garden spot where it was so cool and where she had planted the ferns.

The ferns loved her tears because they thought there was nothing nicer than tears of affection. The rain was happy and the rain wept and when the rain wept the ferns were so happy for they loved tears of happiness!

Tears of happiness from the Rain
King made them grow and kept them fresh and green.

First Dutch Women's Banquet

One of the most enjoyable affairs ever held by the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Dutch Church was their annual women's banquet which was held at the Hotel Statler-Saturday night at 8 o'clock. The 153 representative women of this church and their friends partook of a most deliciously cooked and well served turkey dinner with all its "fixings." Mrs. Hewitt Boice, who had charge of the banquet hall, was generously complimented for the simple but effective floral decorations which consisted of fancy baskets well filled with forsythia, jonquils and daffodils which gave the tables a most "springy" effect. At the head table were seated the president of the Ladies' Aid, Mrs. Harry B. Walker; the vice presidents, Mrs. Margaret Conklin, Mrs. Charles Schoonmaker, Mrs. B. H. Houghaling; the secretary, Mrs. Hewitt Boice; the treasurer, Mrs. James E. Low; the beloved toastmistress, Mrs. Walter Steiner; and Mrs. Lucas Boice, wife of the minister.

Mrs. Walker called upon all present to join in singing one verse of "America," after which Mrs. Boice offered prayer. During the course of the community singing was indulged in most lustily and several pleasing selections were rendered by an orchestra of four girls, Kathryn Stelle, Mary Phelps, Vivian Klotke and Anna Herzog.

After the dinner had been served, the program was in the hands of Mrs. Steiner, who in her bright and jovial manner kept the folks in a merry mood most of the time. She first called upon Miss Frances Boice, who sang several Indian selections and was accompanied by Mrs. Florence Cabberry on the violin and Mrs. Mary Chidester at the piano. These ladies were in Indian costume and rendered most delightful music and were obliged to respond to encores. Mrs. Cabberry also played several selections on the violin, all of which was most delightful.

The toastmistress then announced that she had selected some one from each of the various organizations of the church, and would call first on the Cradle Roll, at which time Ruth Morris, with doll in arms, sang a cute little cradle song most sweetly. This was followed by four small children of the Sunday school, Marion Steckerlet and brother, and Masters Clinton and St. John, and although they were very young to appear before such a large audience, they did their stunts well, and were very pleasing. This was followed by a group of girls from the Christian Endeavor Society, the Misses Rosamond Lampman, Donna Keefe, Roberta Frohlich, Jean Larentz, Ruth Morris and Eva Clinton, who sang the Song of the Eskimo Pie and demonstrated the merits of their composition. Their costumes were very fetching and they were heartily applauded.

One of the most laughable parts of the entertainment was the skit put on by members of the Henrietta Wynkoop Guild who in their blackened faces and polka-dot costumes made a great hit. Mrs. Clarence Brigham, the Queen, was assisted by Mrs. Beatrice Lawson, Miss Mary Case, Miss Sara Hasbrouck, Mrs. Robin Stelle, Mrs. Ward B. Ingalsbe, Mrs. Elmer Van Tassel, Mrs. Floyd Edinger, Miss Mary Ingalls, Miss Francis Osterhoudt, Mrs. Sears, Mrs. Homer Emerick, Miss Florence Tappen, and Mrs. Frohlich. These ladies cracked laughable jokes on many of the prominent women of the church, all of which was taken in good turn, and caused much merriment.

This was followed by a movie act by the Ladies' Aiders themselves, entitled "Hats of Olden Times." During this act Mrs. Steiner read a very apropos poem on these wonderful hats which were exhibited by the different ladies, who each in turn stepped upon an improvised platform and turned slowly around, giving the audience a good view of the wonderful creations which have reposed in various attics for many long years. Probably the largest was the poke bonnet worn by Mrs. Walker; the smallest that of Mrs. William Fessenden, and the oldest, that which was worn by Mrs. Hewitt Boice, which was made for a bride 98 years ago. This last was a dainty creation of white silk and a wreath of pink roses under the brim. A round of applause greeted each of the following women as they appeared wearing their hats: Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Boice, Mrs. Low, Mrs. Boice, Mrs. J. C. Snyder, Mrs. Joetta Snyder, Miss Juliaanna Wood, Mrs. A. D. Rose, Mrs. Chris K. Winne, Mrs. Margaret Conklin, Mrs. Harry Edson, Mrs. U. G. Edinger, Mrs. Ida Coutant, Miss Bernard, Mrs. Fessenden, Mrs. Mary Chidester and Mrs. Phebe Roosa.

The last part consisted of a tea party by some of the most dignified members of the Missionary Society, Mrs. A. A. Zabriske, Mrs. E. O. Allen, Miss Louise Pettingel, Miss Helen Ingalls, Mrs. E. E. Billings and Mrs. Fessenden as hostess. These ladies were all attired in the most wonderful old fashioned gowns, of rare and dainty materials, which have been carefully preserved all the years. The dress worn by Mrs. Zabriske was her wedding dress 69 years ago, even to her shoes.

The tea party was preceded by the young flapper, Barbara Van Devere, who spoke of the fashions of today, their scanty attire, etc., but after viewing the dignity and beauty of the styles of olden times she acknowledged they were indeed more preferable. All the short addresses were accompanied by soft music by Mrs. Chidester and made a most pleasing effect. Taking it all in all, it was probably the most enjoyable banquet the Aid Society has produced and to Mrs. Steiner and Mrs. Chidester goes most of the praise for its success, as they have worked long and faithfully at its production and the event will long be remembered as a most humorous and joyous affair.

Watercress Good Food
The list of foods the doctor says you should eat has been augmented by a new one, watercress. This familiar garnish for meat and salad is a remarkably rich source of the vitamins necessary for growth and of the scurvy-preventing vitamin C. Dr. Katherine H. Coward and P. Eggleton, of the University of London, have found. It contains small quantities of vitamins D as well in its small green leaves. The green shows considerable seasonal variation, however, in its growth-promoting properties, the investigators have found, being more effective with laboratory animals in this respect in spring and summer than in winter.

Breaking Ocean Cables
Researches with reference to the breaking of telegraphic cables have revealed the facts that there are parts of the ocean bed, particularly on steep slopes along the edges of the continents, where great changes frequently occur. The importance of properly selecting the location of a cable is shown by the fact, cited often in this relation, that the military and naval reserves were called out in Australia once, when the simultaneous interruption of two cables cut off communication with the rest of the world for 10 days and gave rise to the fear that war had broken out in Europe.

Gas Once a Curiosity
When the first gas lights were introduced in Baltimore, in 1816, they were placed on exhibit in the museum there and crowds paid admission to see them. Newspaper accounts described them as marvelous "lights without oil, tallow, wick or smoke." The exhibit proved so successful that a gas company was formed the next year, and the streets of the city were soon lighted by the lamps. This was one of the first commercial installations in the United States—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Endurance Riding
The bureau of animal industry says that according to endurance rides held under the direction of a board of sponsors, made by the representatives of the various horse and jockey associations, 60 miles a day is the distance permitted for five consecutive days. The maximum time permitted on any day is nine hours. The maximum time allowed for the entire ride is 50 hours. The horse is usually carrying from 200 to 225 pounds.

"Red-Hot"
At a recent musical program, only three members of the quartet appeared on the stage while the fourth came from the front door in costume with a fiery-red wig. He caused a little excitement, especially for the children. Little Vera Gant, age three, remarked: "Mother, I bet that man has been eating 'red-hot' for he surely has red-hot hair."

Earliest Monograms
The Greeks are supposed to have been the first to use monograms. They are found on old Greek coins and rings. The Romans, however, made the more personal application to daily articles.

Peppy Kept Diary for His Own Satisfaction

Peppy Kepp, 1923.

"A very worthy, industrious and curious person," says Evelyn. Family "pull" got him into the civil service. He proved a hard worker; quick at shorthand; regular at church; musical; lover of art—incidentally, one of the first to collect chapbooks; member of the Royal society; a most respectable man who died credited with all the virtues.

And a century later we learned that he had been—what had he not been? "Scandalously oversexed with drink," a little tyrant in the house, who blackened his wife's eye and kicked the cook; a glutton; a rascal with far too keen an eye for pretty serving maids; none too particular about bribes.

"Worthy person," indeed! Who gave him away? He himself! For nine years he kept a diary. He never meant anybody to read it. Anyway, he wrote the bits his wife was not meant to see in shorthand, cipher, foreign languages or mumbo-jumbo of his own.

But why did he keep it lying about for 34 years? Why didn't he destroy it?

What a disaster if he had.—From the Continental Edition of the London Daily Mail.

Less Bickering With Fifty-Fifty Marriages

Work has replaced bickering in the home of the economically independent wife, according to at least one husband who calls his marriage a "fifty-fifty" proposition.

Writing in the Woman's Home Companion he says that instead of destroying the home the maintenance of marriage as a union of two economically independent persons causes the home to be even more appreciated than it was under the old idea of matrimony. Since both husband and wife are away from their home all day, it is his contention that both appreciate its comforts more when they return to it together at night.

"It seems to me that a fifty-fifty husband's greatest reward," says this fifty-fifty husband, "lies in being married to a woman who, because she has found a satisfactory channel of expression, is a well-balanced personality. The fifty-fifty husband is spared emotional crisis. I trace this to the fact that both of us are workers in the same world and there is no chance for imagination to function overtime."

When babies come, the writer concludes, his wife will remain with them until they reach school age and then will return to her work.
